

My reasoning behind the relationships between entities are as follows:

- customers will be able to both buy tickets and concessions
- tickets must be associated with a specific movie/showing
- the buying of tickets and concessions would be independent of each other